

Setting

In literature, the word 'setting' is used to identify and establish the time, place and mood of the events of the story. It establishes where and when and under what circumstances the story is taking place.

<http://literary-devices.com/content/setting>