Parent/Teacher Interviews

VARIOUS TIMES THROUGHOUT THE YEAR

Some schools ask you to book a time slot for an interview with the teacher. Other schools have you stop in during the interview time. If you need a translator, contact your local multicultural or ethnocultural association (www.nb-mc.ca/members/). You should book a translator in advance because they are very busy around the times of these meetings.

Teachers will talk about student marks and progress. Students do not usually attend the meeting.

Consult the school calendar for your district to find the dates.

Report Cards

VARIOUS TIMES THROUGHOUT THE YEAR

Schools send report cards home to update parents about student progress and marks. The report cards look different depending on the grade level. You can discuss these results at the parent/teacher interviews.

In elementary and middle schools, parents need to sign the report card and send it back to the teacher.

Professional Learning Days and NBTA Days

VARIOUS TIMES THROUGHOUT THE YEAR

Professional learning and NBTA days are for teacher training and collaboration. On these days, students stay home from school so teachers can meet together. Consult your district's website to find out the dates for the year.
