

Good morning, Huskies! It is Friday, March 22nd and we are on a regular schedule.

Honk! Jr. Musical is on again tonight at 7pm, and there is two showings Saturday as well.

Three days until you can purchase delectable delights and generous gifts for your special Easter bunny. The Entrepreneurship classes' first campus marketplace of the semester is this coming Wednesday, March 27th. Student vendors will be set up in the cafeteria during working period and first half of lunch. Cash and e-transfer are accepted currency to snag your items. Come check out hair products, specialty drinks, arts and crafts, food and snacks, and more. See you at the market.

Students interested in helping arrange PRIDE Week are encouraged to see Mr. Savoie and Mrs. Bartlett.

World Water Day reminds us not to take clean water for granted. Despite living in one of the most water-rich countries, many Indigenous communities in Canada continue to be disproportionately affected by water-related issues. Recurring drinking water advisories increase their exposure to contaminants which can result in waterborne illness and long-term health impacts. March 22nd is World Water Day.
