

TEACHER/STAFF APPRECIATION WEEK

The New Brunswick Federation of Home and School Associations, Inc. is pleased to announce the 31st annual Teacher/Staff Appreciation Week. This year it is being celebrated the week of February 11th-15th, 2019.

Initiated by the Canadian Home and School Federation in 1988, Teacher/Staff Appreciation Week provides an opportunity for parents, students and the whole community to recognize the important role that teachers and support staff such as bus drivers, secretaries, custodians, education assistants, administrators and all other professionals in the education system, play in the lives of our children. Home and School Associations and Parent Councils throughout Canada are taking this opportunity to recognize and show their appreciation for all public education staff.

“This week of recognition is an excellent opportunity to reflect on the dedication of educators and all public education staff and take a moment to express your gratitude”, says Cynthia Richards, President of the New Brunswick Home and School Federation.

The Executive Committee and Board Members of NBFHSAI would like to say, “Thank You” to all our educators and staff and express our sincerest appreciation for everything that you do, not only during TSAW but throughout the entire school year.
