

Weekly Homework

→ Each day while you are reading, choose a word that you found challenging or interesting. Define the word, and use it in a sentence. Every Friday (or Thursday if Friday is a holiday), we will share some of the words we chose; they will be added to our word harvest wall. These words will become “no excuse” words. You will be encouraged to use some of them in writing activities.

→ You may type or write your homework. Unfinished homework will have the same consequences as any other class. You know the drill!

Example:

Monday:

Lollygag- to spend time in an aimless or lazy way, to idle about or goof off.

Do not lollygag, do your homework every night!
