- What about breakfast? Now my kid is missing the prime learning time everyday, and will be hungry and cranky by mid-morning.
- Now my kid isn't set up for success, and at a complete disadvantage compared to his from Bromston.
- Now he may ~~experience~~ have negative experiences establish negative habits and feelings towards school which he may carry on as a chronic underachiever and eventually drop out.
- This may sound like a doomsday type scenario, however it is a possibility, and I ask who is liable?
