

Adjectives Cloze Passages

Fonts created by I'm lovin' lit
(Imlovinlit.blogspot.com)

NOTES FOR THE TEACHER 😊

Thank you for downloading my Adjectives Cloze Passages!

These passages are great for students working at writing or word work centers. They also work well during whole group instruction with Adjectives.

Students will complete the cloze passage with adjectives of their choosing after learning about what adjectives actually are. I typically have my students read their passages aloud to a friend or the class after completing these activities!

I teach in an ESL classroom, so my students find cloze passages quite helpful!

These passages would be great for students between first and third grade learning about adjectives.

Thank you again for downloading my product, feel free to check out additional products on my TPT store.

<https://www.teacherspayteachers.com/Store/For-The-Love-Of-Elementary>

What Are Adjectives?

Words that describe the noun
(a person, place or thing)

Name:

Directions: Fill in the blanks with adjectives to create your own silly story!

It all started on a _____ Wednesday. That morning, my mom made extra _____ pancakes! I was so busy eating my pancakes and talking with my _____ brother that I did not realize the time. 8:25! Oh no!! I knew I had missed my bus. But thankfully, my _____ brother offered to drive me. He took a _____ road with a lot of _____ streets and _____ drivers. I wondered where we were. I was not familiar with this _____ town. I was still feeling _____ full from the pancakes so I decided to shut my eyes for a minute.

The next thing I know, we are in a _____ zoo! There are animals, people, _____ food, and _____ toys everywhere! I said to my brother "What are we doing here!" He replied, "enjoying this _____ sunshine with a _____ day at the zoo, don't tell mom." I could not believe my, _____ brother did all this just for me!

We spent the day together, taking pictures of _____ animals and eating _____ treats. When we got back home, my mom asked us how our day at the zoo was. "You knew!?" I said, I could not believe she knew we did not go to school! "Well yes," she explained "Your brother wanted to surprise you with a _____ trip so I simply told him to go Saturday and set your alarm like a school day." I looked and the _____ calendar and could not believe my eyes, it was Saturday!

Name:

Directions: Fill in the blanks with adjectives to create your own silly story!

Today my teacher told us we were going to take a _____ math test on Friday. Math was my _____ subject. I knew it would not be easy. At recess, I started talking with my _____ friend Grace. I told her how nervous I was because this _____ test. Grace said not to worry, that she would teach me her _____ math skills. So, after recess, we both grabbed our _____ notebooks and brought them to lunch to work. As Grace was showing me her work, my head started to spin. It was like she chose the _____ math problems and my head was turning into a _____ marshmallow.

After school, I talked with my teacher. She had a _____ smile that made me feel a little better. When she told me that I could stay in from recess tomorrow to practice the _____ math problems, my _____ mind became happy!

The next day, I worked and practiced together with my _____ teacher. She had a _____ way of making things easier for me to understand. That night, I took home _____ practice to do with my _____ parents.

The next day, I was ready for the test! The _____ sun was shining, the _____ birds were chirping and I was going to rock my test, I just knew it!